

Alan Black joins forces with Darling Range Sports College

Australian Boomers assistant and NBL championship coach, Alan Black will be joining the Darling Range Sports College coaching team in 2018.

Alan brings with him a wealth of playing and coaching experience in National and international basketball. This has come from his time as a player and head coach with the Perth Wildcats where he won a championship in the 1999/2000 season, head coach at the Illawarra Hawks, Sydney Kings and Head coach of the Malaysian institute of sport where in 2017 they won the South East Asian games for only the second time in Malaysian history.

Throughout his time as head coach he was also the Australian Boomers assistant coach for the 1996 and 2000 Olympic Games.

Alan is a qualified school teacher and will be combining his basketball coaching with some time allocated in the classroom teaching our Sport Science classes which he will use his experience from working at the institute of sport to complement the course.

Alan is a great addition to our already impressive state and nationally recognised suite of coaches and is looking forward to putting together a strong foundation for a successful high-performance program at Darling Range Sports College.
